Juveniles Lose In Championship Tilts

A smooth working Vegreville club annexed the fourth straight Rural Alberta Juvenile Hockey Championship for that town by winning two games against Coleman 8-2 and 12-7. Both games were played in the Bellevue Arena Saturday night and Sunday. Coleman had previously won the Southern Alberta title and Vegreville the northern. Neither team had faced defeat in their own class prior to the contests.

Vegreville 8, Coleman 2

A badly disorganized and pessimistic Coleman team allowed Vegreville sharp shooters to register four unanswered markers in the opening period. Michaels, Dehid, Shears and Dzurko blinking the red light as the Coleman team skated listlessly. Mychka of Vegreville drew the only penalty of the period.

Shears, assisted by Hantukik made it 5-0 for the visitors early in the second. Filwich scoring on a play with Kuchyn to give Coleman its first at 8:56. At the 17:40 mark Melnik scored on an assist from Dehid to close the period at 6-1. The game opened up considerably during the sandwich session, both teams roughing it up a little. Filwich, Wilkie, Belter and Laitwaite drew penalties for Coleman. Hantukik, Charuk, Michael, Serek and Beuhder for Vegreville.

Shears opened the scoring in the third, blinking the red light at the 2:43 mark. Belter put Coleman back into the game at 5:43 on a play with Filwich, Hantukik getting this back with a blue-line shot at 18:25. Filwich, Wilkie, Belter and Tarcon drew penalties for Coleman; Michaels and Shears for Vegreville.

Observations

The Coleman club appeared to have thrown in the towel as soon as they skated onto the ice. The power line of Filwich-Tarcon and Belter failed to show any semblance of their old fight and finish. In fact this line was outshone by the Laitwaite-Parks-Tymchyna combination who had not apparently been impressed by the pre game propaganda about Vegreville being invincible. Another combination that refused to quit was the defence duo of Kuchyn and Wilkie.

For the entire 60 minutes Bruno was giving it the old college try despite the fact that he was still taped up from cracked ribs. Vegreville boasted a tough and smooth working defence that Coleman forwards failed to get past. On the forward line, the visitors utilized short, snappy passes that went without interference from the locals.

Vegreville 13, Coleman 7

Down 6 goals in the series Sunday, the Evans coached crew hit the ice with a little more confidence and held the visitors goal for goal until the third period. Each club scored two in the first period, Belter on a solo effort and Filwich from Belter for Coleman. Dehid and Sherban from Makowich for Vegreville. Wilkie served two sentences and Tarcon one during this period; Miako and Makowich two for the visitors.

Led by Wilkie with three markers on assists from Tarcon and Laitwaite, and a single by Belter from Zembiak, Coleman forged ahead in the second, leading the northern club by a score of 6-5. Dehid, Melnichuk and Miako scored for Vegreville. Hyciw and Dehid getting assists. Tarcon drew two penalties for Coleman. Wuzkip and Malinski for Vegreville. Miako from Hantukik tied the score early in the third. Filwich tying it again on an assist from Belter. Play continued to be fairly even for a time then the roof fell in on the Coleman club. Playing the same as the night before the Coleman crew started passing blind and sloppy clearing around their nets. As a result, Vegreville rapped in goals by Beuhder, Milensk, Dzurko, Dehid, Charuk and Hdulcw to take home the title. Tarcon drew another two trips to the penalty box, Dzurko penalized for the visitors.

Observation

We make no comment about the refereeing, approximately 12 or 1400 people saw the games and have drawn their own conclusions.

Parks continued to be aggressive after being laid low early in the opening period. Barry Fraser, up from the Baniam club, showed a great deal of promise and executed a number of neat plays. It is without a doubt that the better club won the title, but we feel like many others that the Coleman club could have put up a better fight in the first game. . . . ed the offer down. With the aim of win or lose with their own club they have annexed the southern Alberta title and lost their first games to the best team in the province. During the weeks of play-offs they swamped Bellevue whose roster included players from Blairmore and Pincher, then all-star teams from High River, Vulcan and Standard and finally lost out to an all-star club from Vegreville.

To these same players we say thanks for the pleasure that you have given us this year. Your loss was no disgrace and your achievements in the series have brought Coleman into a little more prominence. Following the game, Mr. Houghton, president of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association presented the winning team with the trophy.

A banquet and party was held for both clubs in Turtle Mountain Playground Sunday night.

Coleman Grands Top Fernie 7-5

Coleman Grands defeated Fernie Rangers 7-5 in Fernie Saturday night. The fixture a rescheduled postponed game, was the final game of the Alberta-British Columbia intermediate hockey league schedule.

Mike Hudz led the Coleman club with four goals, George Jenkins got two and Andrew Skaka one. Wilfred Ashmore got three goals for Fernie with singletons going to Joe Boshlo and Bill Milburn.

Ted Kryczka, Coleman centre, was the best man on the ice, leading the Coleman attack, back-checking consistently and constantly breaking up Fernie attacks. George Jenkins of Coleman and Mike Slaven of Fernie kept the game well in hand, issuing six penalties to Coleman and one to Fernie.

Mass Meeting Calls For Resolution Asking For Higher Subvention And Embargo On U.S. Coal

A review of Alberta's Ailing Coal Industry was heard at a public meeting held in the Blairmore Elks Hall Sunday when well over 400 persons gathered to hear a number of speakers air their views on the matter.

Mayor William Gray of Blairmore and secretary of the Blairmore local of the IMAWA acted as chairman while W. Ash secretary of the Coleman local took the position of secretary.

To open the meeting Mayor Gray commented on the crisis that the coal industry is now facing pointing out that in spite of the fact that our Alberta mines are idle for lack of orders that 23 to 24 million tons of coal are being imported into Ontario from the United States. Speaking on behalf and in the interest of the miners he felt that Alberta mines should have a good fair portion of this trade with Ontario. Mr. Gray then stated that William Kovach M.L.A. of Hillcrest and H. Prowse of Lethbridge who had been invited to attend the meeting were unable to be present.

Mayor Gray then introduced S. Weaver, board member from Michel who has recently returned from Ottawa where an attempt was made to air the coal crisis. In his opening remarks Mr. Weaver pointed out that this slump in coal production was affecting all business men as well as miners in the area and that he was sorry that there was an absence of coal operators in the audience as he felt that they were the ones that took the greatest profit from the coal industry. In his report about his recent trip to Ottawa Mr. Weaver stated that the delegation sent had met with Minister of Mines Mr. Prudham and had had a one hour conference with him. The talk with the Minister indicated that Mr. Prudham would visit this area this spring. Mr. Weaver also added that in Ottawa they know nothing of the plight in which the miners are in today.

He stated that in Ottawa the house did not know that such towns as Blairmore, Coleman and other Pass towns exist and to let them know and to point out the crisis the miners are in, he suggested that a delegation comprised of a good cross section of all persons involved here should be selected to approach the government with our problems. He then stated that while 24 million tons of coal were being imported from the United States, miners here were sitting idle and the government were losing several million dollars in income tax. In conclusion he added that there was too much coal coming into Canada from Yankee interests and that the ministers in the House did not care for the miners.

District Secretary Boyd from Calgary then gave a review of the past few years have been closing down due to a lack of markets. He then commented on his meeting with Mr. Prudham stating that the minister had hoped that the situation faced now by miners would be overcome in the next five years to which Mr. Boyd added that he had replied "I hope sir that you do not expect the coal miners to starve while waiting for this to come into effect." The minister had also indicated that the new coal turbine being developed at McGill University was not yet a complete success but when perfected in possibly two years could supply the horse power at half cost for railways, power and other industry. He also added that the government had set aside another $200,000.00 for work on the engine. Mr. Boyd then commented on the building that is to be built in Edmonton for research purposes into the coal industry, he stated that this was a step in the right direction but this should have been done in 1944. Mr. Boyd then commented on the increased coal subvention that was announced last week and stated that he was always thankful for small mercy and that the Federal Government by doing this admitted that there was something wrong in the coal industry and that it was their responsibility. The subvention he added is a step in the right direction but the miners in Alberta are not after a 100,000 ton order they want a market for one and one half million tons of coal and the coal industry needs a larger subvention.

Jim English president of the Michel Union gave his views on the matter stating that the people should adopt a policy of "Put Canada first for Canadian People." He then outlined the history behind the shut down of a number of British Columbia mines; the proposal of the government to bring in another 25,000 Italian immigrants while 600,000 Canadians were unemployed today to which end he added the whole economy of Canada is being endangered.

As a result of the meeting a resolution was drawn up to be sent to the Federal Government and to each of the members in the house who are representatives from a coal mining district, asking for a higher subvention for Alberta coal and requesting that an embargo be placed on part of the American coal coming into Canada.

A meeting will be held in the near future at which time attempts will be made to have two or three members from every organization and business, together with coal operators, and union officials to form a central committee to draw up a brief to present to the government.

Pass Mayor And Wife Hurt In Utah Crash

Mayor Frank Abousaffy of Coleman and his wife were injured early Thursday morning in a highway collision during a snow storm south of Richfield, Utah. Neither was considered seriously hurt.

At the time of the accident, the well-known couple from Coleman were returning home from having spent a winter vacation in California and Arizona. They had left Coleman for the vacation on Feb. 16.

The Utah highway patrol reported that Mrs. Abousaffy, had suffered cuts to the head from broken glass, bruises and shock when the automobile driven by her husband collided with a farm truck. She was taken to the Sevier County Hospital.

Mayor Abousaffy suffered only slight bruises and some cuts to the head. According to a telephone call received here by his son from the parents, Mayor and Mrs. Abousaffy were driving along a main highway and their new car collided with a truck as they were about to pass the truck. Just as they were about to pass the truck the vehicle made a left turn.

Mayor Abousaffy has been a prominent Coleman businessman and community worker since moving here 19 years ago from Wetaskiwin with his family to operate his own dry goods store.

Coleman Rinks Win Trophies In Crow Spiel

Coleman rinks showed their mastery of the curling game by winning all four trophies up for competition in the Crows Nest Pass Spiel. The spiel featured rinks from Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue, and utilized ice at the three centers.

Joe Malenchuk's rink walked off with the Lethbridge Brewery and the Blairmore Merchants cups, and Ledieu the Grand Coe-Inn trophy and G. Jenkins the International cup.

People shop where they are invited—that's why it pays to advertise.

LION'S SHARE—It's a matter of question as to who is getting the lion's share of this sleighing venture but, at least, 11-year-old Terry Thayer is enjoying his ride, courtesy of Little Tyke, a seven-year-old lioness owned by George Westbeau of Auburn, Washington. The Westbeaus said they were surprised that their pet left a warm fireplace to pull a sleigh in the cold.

ACCIDENT BEWILTERS FARMYARD—The Academy Hill near North Battleford proved too much recently for this car transport which plowed through the heavy cable highway fence and ended in the farmyard of Bill Zapotiching a few yards from the point No. 4 Highway crosses the Battle River.

THE U.S. ARMY AND AIRFORCE announced existence of their XV-1 "Convertiplane," first military aircraft ever built to take-off and land like a helicopter yet convert in flight to or from a high-speed plane. The plane has a jet propeller rotor for vertical operations and a pusher-type propeller for forward flight.

"WHERE DID EWE find that animal?" a disbelieving desk officer asks Patrolman Al Amundson at the 100th Police Precinct at Rockaway, Long Island. "I am not trying to pull the wool over your eyes, Amundson replied sheepishly, "but I lassoed it with a skipping rope borrowed from a school girl." Police were called to hunt for the ewe when residents of the district complained of hearing sheep-like noises. The other men at the station couldn't refrain from snickering when the animal was brought in and turned over to the SPCA.

PAPER DOLL—Joan Rawlings of Miami Beach, Fla., displays the form that won her the title, "Miss Headliner of 1954" during the recent International Printers Week. She wears a fitting "crown" made from a newspaper.

DRESS REHEARSAL — Resembling a fugitive from a horror movie, this masked man in the bulky, padded suit is actually a member of an Italian mountain-climbing team preparing to climb the rugged K-2 mountain peak of the Himalayas. The 15-man team is currently undergoing rigid training at Plateau Rosa, Italy, for its risky try this summer.

HAVE A HEART — AND TREAT IT WELL

During the past quarter century, there has been a decided increase in heart ailments, which may be partly due to the speed and tension at which we live. Many people over forty apparently forget that they are no longer teenagers, able to run upstairs or tackle the hills on skis. It is wise to remember one's age and take things more easily. If moderate exercise results in shortness of breath, a doctor should be consulted to ascertain the cause. Acting one's age may mean a longer lease on life.

QUEEN ELIZABETH passes the caged mascot, Sally, as she enters the Regent Theatre in Christchurch, New Zealand, where she saw a motion picture. The Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, landed at Sydney, Australia, Feb. 2nd.

EXHIBITION ON HOW OIL IS FORMED—These students from White River, Ontario, set a new distance record for organized groups visiting the Royal Ontario Museum at Toronto. On their round trip of more than 1,100 miles they visited the museum and its exhibition on how oil is formed, where it is located and produced in Canada. The exhibition, the first of its kind in Canada, is a joint project of the Canadian oil industry, southwestern Ontario, where oil was first discovered in the 1850's. In this picture Walter M. Tovell, curator of geology, is explaining the operation of a rotary drilling rig. This is the type of rig used in western Canada and recently introduced by Imperial Oil into the Ontario oil fields.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Baby Needs Shoes

By Vincent D. Lunney

SLUGGER BAKER danced around the ring, his hands clasped above his head, acknowledging the scattered applause in the smoke-filled fight club. He hadn't fought for two years and the smell of resin was nectar, but he wasn't happy. He was thinking about his wife. He remembered her voice when he said, "I'm gonna try another fight. Make us fifty or sixty bucks, nobles."

"But, darling, you've got a job and it might lead to a promotion soon. Why spoil your chances by fighting again? We don't need the money that bad."

He'd looked fondly at Eileen. "Look, honey, you're gonna have a baby. Wouldn't a few extra dollars help?"

"Yes, I suppose it would," she replied. "But I'd rather you wouldn't fight... if we need money, I can go back to work at the Acme Beauty Parlor."

He'd interrupted, "Nothin' doin'. Having a baby is a fulltime job." Pulling himself back to the job in hand, he watched Eddie Waller climbing into the ring. The kid looked good. A nice welterweight. His mind was wavering again. George Gabson, the manager of the fight club, had told him: "Gotta bout for you, Slugger. Waller's green but he'll be on top of the heap some day. If you're ready I'll match you. Fifty bucks."

"Gee, Gabby, that's swell."

"... if you lose?"

"Lose? I can't do that."

"Suit yourself. You want half a century, don't you? This is a small club. Who's gonna be wise? If you play ball, I'll get you more bouts."

The seconds were working on Slugger getting him ready, but his thoughts were at home again. He remembered how Eileen took the news of his match.

"Think you can win?" she'd asked.

He hadn't the nerve to tell her he was supposed to lose.

The bell clanged. Slugger felt Waller's glove flick to his face. He countered with a left and Waller socked him with a right. Slugger let himself be backed into the ropes. He took an uppercut under his eye. He let the kid hit him again. Better make it look good, he told himself, as the lashing left snapped his head back.

As his seconds administered between rounds, Slugger's eyes swept the crowd. Eileen was in the third row. His pulse quickened. At the sound of the bell he was on his feet.

Slugger absorbed a series of left and rights. The blood flowed freely from the cut and there were red marks on his heaving chest. "I can quit now," he thought. "Just drop to the floor and take the count." An uppercut landed flush on his jaw. The crowd was on its feet as the referee began to count. "One... two... three... four..."

Eileen was at the apron of the ring. She was begging him to get up. He smiled feebly. "Sorry, honey, I gotta lose," he muttered.

"Five... six... seven..."

The crowd was counting with the referee.

At nine he got to his feet. Above the roar he heard Eileen's eyes rolled back. He kept punching until Waller slipped to the floor. An inert figure. Slugger laughed. He felt fine again. He'd conquered Waller and he'd conquered himself.

Slowly Slugger walked through the deserted arena. Gabby had given him a lashing in the dressing room... had called him a cheat. All Slugger wanted was to see Eileen. He'd have to tell her that Gabby wouldn't pay him the fifty dollars.

"C'mon, Slugger, give it to him."

Something clicked in Slugger's brain. Maybe it was pride, maybe resentment. He whipped a right into the kid's face and grinned when his opponent squirmed. He lashed out a left and Waller's eyes rolled back. He kept punching until Waller slipped to the floor. An inert figure. Slugger laughed. He felt fine again. He'd conquered Waller and he'd conquered himself.

Slowly Slugger walked through the deserted arena. Gabby had given him a lashing in the dressing room... had called him a cheat. All Slugger wanted was to see Eileen. He'd have to tell her that Gabby wouldn't pay him the fifty dollars.

Something clicked in Slugger's brain. Maybe it was pride, maybe resentment. He whipped a right into the kid's face and grinned when his opponent squirmed. He lashed out a left and Waller's eyes rolled back. He kept punching until Waller slipped to the floor. An inert figure. Slugger laughed. He felt fine again. He'd conquered Waller and he'd conquered himself.

Funny and Otherwise

A little man dashed into a public house and said to the landlord: "A large ginger ale!" He looked shaken, so the landlord asked him what was wrong.

"I just got home to find a strange man kissing my wife!"

"And what did you do?"

"I picked up his umbrella, smashed it across my knee, and said: 'There! I hope it rains!'"

"Have I a licence? Don't be a fool, officer!" said the woman motorist who had just uprooted a lamp-post. "Who'd give me a licence the way I drive?"

"I have a little attachment here for your wireless."

"That's nice of you, old man. What is it?"

"Just a bit of rope and a brick, and the river's the second turning on the right."

"Daddy, did grandpa spank you when you were a little boy?"

"Yes, Johnny."

"And did great-grandpa spank grandpa when he was a little boy?"

"Yes, Johnny."

"Well, don't you think that with my help you could overcome this inherited hoiliganism?"

A wealthy man was being bored at lunch by a young man who monopolized the conversation, and finally passed round his sleeve-links for inspection.

"Genuine malachite," he said.

"Yes," said the wealthy man. "It's a stone I like. I have several mantelpieces made of the stuff."

Mother: Shirley, be still! Why don't you be nice and quiet like Johnny? He isn't making a sound and you're jumping and screaming.

Shirley: Sure. That's our game. He's daddy coming home late, and I'm you.

Southern Alta. Potato Growers Now Organized

TABER, Alta.—In the recent organization of seed potato growers of Southern Alberta, W. L. McGillivray, of Coaldale, was elected president of the organization, with Ed Shimshash of Barnwell, secretary-treasurer. A. Furukawa of Taber was chosen as a director along with three others for other points.

Several government men were also present at the meeting and assisted in the organization which is designed to improve quality and help in marketing the seed potatoes.

There are now 86 certified potato seed growers in Alberta and they supply one per cent. of the total Canadian seed. During 1953 Southern Alberta irrigated areas had just over 600 acres producing seed potatoes, with 24 farmers in this business.

The organization will be marketing their seed potatoes in special bags, stamped "Sunny Alberta Brand."

These students from White River, Ont., made a round trip of more than 1,100 miles to visit the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto to see how oil is found and produced in Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The students and their teacher, Miss Agnes Farries (centre, back row) set a new distance record for organized school groups visiting the museum. They saw an exhibition on the Canadian oil industry, produced jointly by Imperial Oil Ltd. and the museum. The first exhibition of its kind in Canada, it uses modern display techniques to explain the intricacies of oil exploration and discovery in western Canada. Miss Margaret Cumming, science lecturer of the museum staff, is discussing the operation of an oilman's Christmas tree, the collection of valves and pipes which controls the flow of oil from a well.

The Red Cross Needs Your Help

Within the next few days the local Red Cross canvas will get under way. The target for this year will be $1000.

The Red Cross record includes treatment of hundreds of orthopedic and polio patients in the Red Cross Crippled Children's Hospital and free blood transfusion service. Hospital supplies and clothing are sent to disaster areas, and the organization of children and teenagers in the ranks of the Junior Red Cross where they learn responsibility and service.

During the polio outbreak in the province last year the Red Cross women's work committee provided the Red Cross Hospital with 4,955 essential articles. Last year the blood transfusion service received 498,632 surgical dressings and 1,694 sewn articles.

A total of 127 cases of supplies were shipped overseas during the year to Holland, England, Greece, Japan, Gaza, to the League of Red Cross in Switzerland and to the Isle of Man.

The Red Cross reports that the number of patients receiving transfusions is steadily rising, the total patients receiving blood transfusion in 1953 was 89 per cent more than in 1947, nearly 150,000 transfusion have been administered to patients in the province.

More than 6,000 Junior Red Cross members in classrooms across Alberta contributed $15,357.84 to the Crippled Children's Hospital in the past year as well as contributing canned goods, vegetables, toys, books, tray favors, and equipment.

Alberta nurses also gave $5,215 to the National Service Fund of the Red Cross and 25 cases were filled with gifts for children in India, Ceylon, Yugoslavia, Japan, Germany, Israel, Gaza and Switzerland. The Red Cross hospital facilities were taxed to the limit in 1953. At the height of the polio outbreak in September the hospital's patient capacity surpassed its recognised limit for the first time in the two year history of the new hospital.

The hospital was serving more than 60 patients during the fall months when its capacity was recognised at 156 beds.

Let us make every effort in Coleman to top the $1000 target.

Subvention Will Help Coal Mines

W. C. Whittaker, secretary-manager of the Western Canadian Coal Operator's Association, said in Calgary Friday the coal industry hopes to gain a fairly substantial Ontario market with freight rates set until April, 1959, and in light of the increased subvention.

He felt the estimate that sales would increase in Northern Ontario to 100,000 tons a year was a good estimate but not a guarantee as the industry was just being placed on a competitive scale. Previous sales to the area were about 17,000 tons.

Three years ago Alberta sold about 500,000 tons of coal to Ontario but this decreased to about 250,000 tons last year. The 65-cent-a-ton increase announced in Ottawa raised the subvention from $2.85 to $3.50 a ton for coal shipped to northern Ontario.

For the past two years the industry has not been competitive in northern Ontario because of the discount on the U.S. dollar and the instability of freight rates.

In Edmonton, industry and provincial government officials praised the subvention increase.

"Undoubtedly the proposed increase will give the industry a necessary stimulant," a government spokesman said. "It will mean a lot to us to open a good market in Ontario."

The provincial mines branch reported that in 1953 more than 73,000 tons of Alberta coal and almost 16,000 tons of briquettes went to Ontario.

Denies Charges

"Charges that the wholesale price of standard grade gasoline is some 7-8 cents lower in Houston, Texas, than in Edmonton, are false and are based on misinterpretation of the facts and figures used," D. J. Avison, Alberta marketing manager for Imperial Oil, said today. The charges were made in a paid radio broadcast over station CFCN Thursday night.

Mr. Avison said the difference is roughly 1.8 cents, with the lower Houston price accounted for by higher operations and markets and lower costs of equipment. He said that gasoline prices are fair and reasonable and keen competition between companies keeps the prices of petroleum products low.

The broadcast contended that the Edmonton area could be compared with the Houston, Texas, area. It claimed that the Edmonton wholesale price of standard grade gasoline is 20.9 cents, while the Houston price, corrected for the Canadian gallon, is 12.9 cents to 13.5 cents per gallon. "Actually," Mr. Avison said, "the comparable Houston tank wagon price works out to 19.14 cents per gallon. This is after it is converted to the Imperial gallon and Canada's ten percent sales tax is added."

"In other words, the Edmonton wholesale price of regular grade gasoline is 20.9 cents and the comparative price in Houston is 19.14 cents. The lower price in Houston is accounted for by the relative size of the refinery operations and markets. One refinery serving Houston is more than ten times as big as Alberta's largest plant. Higher costs of equipment in Alberta also increase costs here."

"Apparently, the Houston price quoted in the broadcast is the price asked for the bulk sale of a large quantity of gasoline at a refinery dock—an ocean tanker load of four million gallons or more," Mr. Avison continued.

"There is a very great difference between the price of a truck load delivered to a service station and a single sale of millions of gallons. This price difference exists right in Houston, Alberta of course, does not have these huge bulk sales."

In the broadcast another basis used for the claim that the price of gasoline could be reduced in Alberta was a "fifty-city average." "We assume that this is the fifty-city average published in Platt's Oilgram, which is an authoritative source of pricing information in the industry," Mr. Avison said. "The fifty-city average price given in Platt's for January 1, 1954, is 18.27 cents per U.S. gallon. When this is converted to the larger Canadian gallon and the ten percent Canadian sales tax is added we find that the U.S. fifty-city price becomes 21 cents. This is higher than the price in Edmonton."

The broadcast claimed that the price of gasoline in Alberta has increased rather than decreased in spite of oil development. "When our Edmonton refinery began operations in 1948 the wholesale price of standard grade gasoline was 23.8 cents," Mr. Avison said. "Today it is 20.9 cents."

DUTIES OF ROCK-HEAVERS DESCRIBED

The Lead

The lead is a lowly person who throws the first pair of rocks. Someone has to throw them so they pick on the lead. He should thank his lucky stars that he is even allowed to appear on the ice with other such distinguished personalities. All curlers have served apprenticeship as Leads, and most of them never served long enough. The Lead must address the Skip as "Sir" and the Third Man as "Mister." He must see that all rocks are cleaned before the game, and keep the other members in cigarettes, cigars and matches during the game. First and foremost, he must never talk back. It really doesn't matter if he makes his shot or not—he'll be blamed if the game is lost anyway.

The Second

The Second is but one degree removed from the Lead. He must do 75 per cent. of the sweeping, help keep the Third Man in matches. He corrects the Lead's mistakes by trying again to put his rocks where the Skip asked the Lead to put them and didn't. If he sails through the well, he's only the second anyway and what can you expect. He is the only member of the rink who is allowed to insult the Lead, both the Third and Skip consider it beneath their dignity to insult such a minor member. The only time the Skip or the Third Man condescend to speak to the Second is to ask for a match. Yes, he has a pretty tough life, too.

The Third

The Third is, of course, the brains of the rink. He should be a skip, but he magnificently allows the other fellow to think he is boss. Assuming an air of superiority over all Leads and Seconds, he holds the broom for the Skip, and throws duty looks at him for missing it. He passes on the Lead's cigarettes to the skip, together with a lot of unsolicited advice. Everybody knows he should be skipping the rink, he even admits in a quiet way, but labors on with an air of superiority. The chief accomplishment of a Third Man is to be able to convey the impression (by gestures and attitude) that he knew darn well the Skip played the wrong shot when he missed, and if the Skip makes it, why he (the

LEADS SECONDS SKIPS

The Skip

The Skip is the goat. He is the gentleman sportsman who neglects his business and sacrifices his valuable time because three others wish the benefit of his skill and experience. He doesn't sweep, this is for lesser members. He holds the broom, and his temper, while his subordinates miss shot after shot. He must be experienced and exercise good judgement in making decisions. He must not blush or appear embarrassed when he hears other members of his rink discussing his failures and short comings with unfeeling spectators. He must never pick the right shots, this would forestall the experts behind the glass. Rocks that only can be seen by whisksers, he must knock out. He must draw to the button, be on the port but inches wide or none at all. He must be able to play dynamite or runner weight, with one rock and draw to the button next. He must be able to take out four rocks when there are only three and lie on the button. If he wins, it's a packed rink; if he loses, he's a tramp. Should he accidentally pilot his rink to the big prize in the 'Spill he won't have a friend in the world. Pity the poor old Skip!—The Valley Citizen.

ONCE NO. 1 KILLER

Once top name on the public-health-enemy list, tuberculosis, is now far down the list of causes of death in Canada. It is, medical authorities here, well on its way off the list completely, together with typhus, smallpox and the other plague diseases that once took hundreds of lives annually in this country. But TB can only be stamped out completely through early discovery which permits early treatment. This means that every citizen of this country must co-operate in having periodical chest X-rays. Since this protective procedure is free of charge almost everywhere in Canada, there is no reason why everyone cannot make this contribution towards his own and his family's health.

By agreement, armies rarely wage war actively in winter in medieval times.

More Cattle And Sheep But Fewer Horses On Farms

There were more cattle, sheep and lambs, but fewer horses on Canadian farms on December 2 than on the same date in 1932. According to estimates based on farmers' replies in the annual December survey taken in co-operation with provincial government departments.

The estimated total number of cattle and calves, including milk cows, was 5 per cent. higher at 9,371,000 as compared with 8,906,300 on the same date in 1932. Eastern-Canada total rose 6 per cent. to 5,376,000 from 5,055,300 and the western total rose 4 per cent. to 3,995,000 from 3,851,000. Milk cows numbered 3,184,000, 6 per cent. above the preceding year's 3,013,000. At the same time, beef cows increased in number to 1,425,000 from 1,303,900. Yearling heifers being raised for milking purposes decreased to 861,200 from 872,700, but those being raised for milking purposes decreased to 861,200 from 872,700, but those being raised for beef increased to 589,100 from 550,500. Steers increased in number to 780,500 from 732,500, and calves to 2,331,000 from 2,233,300. The number of sheep and lambs was estimated at 1,161,000, 5 per cent. greater than a year earlier, while the estimated number of horses declined 7 per cent. to 1,053,700.

Alberta Holds Large Coking Coal Reserves

EDMONTON.—Alberta has the only large reserves of high-grade coking coal in North America and they will be exploited in the near future, Dr. John Convey of Ottawa, director of the federal mines branch, said here recently.

There is a "very severe" shortage of coking coal—vital in the making of iron and steel—and studies are being made which should result in large-scale developments in the Crow's Nest Pass area, said Dr. Convey.

Main difficulty at present was the fault formations in strata in the Crow's Nest area which resulted in cave-in when drilling took place. A team of physicists, mining engineers and geologists is working on the problem.

Dr. Convey said it is his hope a system can be devised by which the fault formations assist in extraction of the coal.

Referring to competition from oil and natural gas, Dr. Convey said he believes that within 10 years the coal industry in Alberta will be as healthy as ever, if not healthier.

This Beats "Little Pig Went To Market"—By Fifty Yards

MACKLIN, Sask.—This is the story of a pig that has the one about the little pig that went to market beaten a mile. A local farmer was going home with a hog he had got from his neighbor arriving home late at night. When he went to unload it found there was no pig. It had got out of the crate and jumped over the end gate of the truck.

The next morning he got on his horse. Retracing the route he had taken he found the hog had burrowed in a snow drift and resting contentedly just like the jack rabbits similarly housed in the vicinity.

The farmer tried to chase the hog across the railway tracks but the hog stuck to the smooth going between the rails. At this time a freight train suddenly appeared. The farmer tried to stop the train but the trainmen saw it too late. The brakes were instantly applied but before the train had stopped the pig had been rolled about fifty yards. With all motion about stopped it scurried from underneath and taken home where it is contentedly grunting and consuming feed. The only regret of the owner is that the rolling and scratching the pig got underneath the moving train it will not be fit for the show ring due to some permanent scars in its pigtails.

A short time after this experience the farmer was asked by railway officials to put in a claim for what the pig was worth, but as it is going about with no apparent signs of injury no settlement will be necessary.

The farming area of Sweden is only about 10 per cent. of the total area. 2078

Irrigation Makes Once Parched And Barren District Of Val Marie Most Productive

VAL MARIE, Sask.—Water came to parched and barren Val Marie back in 1937. The community has since graduated from a hot spot of the once ill-favored Pallister Triangle dust bowl to one of southern Saskatchewan's most productive farming areas.

Irrigation did the trick. In a recent report covering early activities under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act, the Val Marie irrigation project is used as an example of what PFRA projects are doing for rural prairie communities.

The 6,000-acre water project, in the valley of Frenchman's river about 75 miles south of Swift Current was completed in 1937 at a cost of $200,000—pne of the first and cheapest projects undertaken by PFRA.

In the early 1930's, it was necessary to ship in hay, seed and food. The lack of winter feed and summer grazing had forced farmers to market their cattle at great loss. There were only about 150 head of cattle left in the region when the project was started.

Now there are some 3,500 cattle in the area. The increase took place during wartime, and by 1951, farmers had enough cattle to take advantage of post-war prices.

Most of the irrigated land had been needed to forage mixtures of alfalfa and grass, providing adequate and sure supplies of winter feed. A district to which a trainload of eastern Canadian feed had to be shipped in 1937 now harvests about 5,000 tons of hay yearly.

Irrigation also brought an assured vegetable supply.

What would happen in another drought? In 1949, just as dry as 1937, it was not necessary to import winter feed or reduce the cattle stock. In fact, the irrigated district helped supply drought-stricken farmers at other Saskatchewan points.

In land development for the project, which includes clearing of sagebrush and greasewood, breaking and levelling of land, and installation of irrigation structures and ditches, Val Marie farmers were employed for all the work. Farmers were moved from surrounding dry lands to irrigated land.

In 1938, the federal government—through the PFRA—purchased all privately owned land at dry-land prices and the Saskatchewan government transferred all its crown land to PFRA.

This made a total of 6,000 acres available for irrigation. In 1939, farmers were given an agreement for sale of most of the land with a lease option on the rest. Payment could be made over a 14-year period at a price which took into account the water-right cost as well as the cost of the land-development work.

The purchase of land by the federal government was 50 per cent. repaid in 1952, and complete payment is expected in a few years. All development costs have been paid.

A sound livestock economy was spurred through a community pasture of 155,000 acres, provided through the regrassing of abandoned farm lands.

Orchid Grown In Saskatchewan

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask.—A local Horticulturist, George Hornsby has found a new outlet for his talent. Last June he imported two orchid plants and recently was proud to produce his first bloom. Mr. Hornsby got his orchid plants in Florida. It takes a seedling seven years to bloom, but by purchasing matured plants he was able to see his first bloom last weekend. The two plants cost him thirty dollars.

Although sugar beets contain less than 20 per cent. sugar, they furnish nearly one half of the world's supply of that commodity.

Oldtimers Of Battleford District Hold Get-Together

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. — Oldtimers of the Battlefords and district, had a most enjoyable gathering recently in the Odd Fellows Temple here. Highlighting the evening's program, was the presentation of corsages and button hole bouquets, to the oldest persons present.

Jim McGiffin of Baljennie, a spry 85 years old, was the eldest in attendance, with Mrs. John M. Allan, Sr., of Battleford, at 81, the second oldest. Jack Burton, Oldtimers President, welcomed those present to the gathering, and expressed the hope that each one would bring out other oldtimers to the next social evening.

Whist, bridge, old time square dancing, and a program which featured well known songs and recitations, was enjoyed, while a wedding dress in which the late Mrs. H. H. Speers of Battleford had been married in 1889, was modelled.

THE OLD AND THE YOUNG — The young ladies in the back row (Elsie Isberg, Evelyn Swon, June Mallovs and Dorothy Vickery) performed at the Oldtimers gathering at North Battleford. They were costumed in garments thirty and forty years old. In the front row is shown the most senior members of the association. Mrs. J. M. Summers, Mr. and Mrs. John Allan, Sr., Battleford, and Mr. James McGiffin of Baljennie.

eldest lady, Mr. Allan and Mrs. J. W. Summers of Speers, both 80 years old, completed the quartette of pioneer veterans, who braved the sub zero temperatures, to attend the gathering.

Mrs. J. Inman, herself an old-timer, donated and presented the floral tributes. On the sadder scene, was the one minute's silence, observed in memory of two oldtimers who have recently passed on. Those so remembered, were the late Mrs. Jack Shaw and the late William Bunce.

led by Evelyn Swon.

Charles Tubb, one of the original group who were in this district when the city was formed almost 50 years ago, was master of ceremonies for the program. Community singing was led by Mr. Tubb with Les Hainworth at the piano. Piano solos were given by Mr. Hainworth also.

Also enjoyed on the program was a quartette consisting of A. J. Tatchell, W. Cutbush, W. Pratt and G. Hazen, and vocal solos by Shirley Rowland, singing "Smiling Through" and "My Buddy", and George Dryden who sang the "Whiffenpoof Song".

Mrs. Robert Schouler delighted with a reading entitled "The Factory Chimney" and Jim Grant and Mrs. Rowland combined to present the "Singing Lesson". An accordion solo by Johnny Kal, "New Accordion Polka" and a trio presented by the Misses Evelyn Swon, Dorothy Vickery and Elsie Isberg completed the program. Two of the latter young ladies were dressed in wedding dresses of many years ago, as they appropriately sang the lovely "Going Home".

Miss June Mallovs acted as accompanist for many of the numbers.

Many Crippled, Handicapped Children Come Under Care of Red Cross

BRENT, age two, is receiving treatment for club feet. He is one of the 164 children given hospital or out-patient care by the Saskatchewan Junior Red Cross last year. In February 1920 the juniors arranged for the treatment of their first patient. During the following 34 years, 6,178 crippled or handicapped children have been helped to better health by medical skill, education and kind treatment.

Care for crippled children is just one part of the work undertaken by Saskatchewan's 118,000 members in 5,261 classrooms. Other projects include help for needy children abroad, the promotion of health and the development of international friendship.

All costs of Junior Red Cross administration are provided for by the Senior Red Cross. This makes it possible to use every cent contributed by children for Crippled Children's Work or Overseas Relief.

The Red Cross on a schoolroom window signifies membership in the Junior Red Cross under the guidance of a Teacher-Director, who is a recognized Red Cross volunteer.

Junior Red Cross is an active young people's organization in 37 countries with meetings properly conducted and members engaged in studying and carrying out activities related to health rules, good citizenship, serving others and in promoting a better understanding between children of many nations.

Besides the administration of Crippled Children's Work, the Junior Red Cross Headquarters provides materials for the use of the Branches, so that programs may be rich in valuable learning experiences for the youthful members.

This is only one of the many Red Cross services rendered in Canada. One of the most important commitments has been carried out continuously since 1914. It is the work done on behalf of veterans in some 65 hospitals where films are shown on a regular schedule. In many of these hospitals, Red Cross instructors teach arts and crafts, thus assisting with the re-habilitation of handicapped veterans. Eight lodges close to D.V.A. Hospitals located across Canada, provide recreation, libraries, snacks and over-night accommodations for the next of kin. Approximately 18,000 veterans and 30,000 of their dependents are assisted in one way or another each year.

Disasters have become more frequent in Canada. No one knows where or when another town may be wiped out by fire or threatened by flood. Here in Saskatchewan, Red Cross assisted 400 individuals when 87 homes were destroyed by fire during 1953. While in Canada, there were over 5,000 of some 800 disasters helped. Red Cross provides only emergency needs of clothing, bedding, food, and medicine on the recommendation of local Red Cross representatives.

Any person who is interested in obtaining a complete annual report and financial statement for 1953 of the Society's work in Saskatchewan, may do so by writing the Commissioner, at 2321 Victoria Avenue, Regina, Saskatchewan.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

ABRAHAM AND JACOB: A CONTRAST

A puzzling and embarrassing incident in the Bible is the story of Abraham's lapse from truthfulness in representing his wife, Sarah, as his sister, when they were confronted by danger in Egypt.

He lied out of fear for his own life and gave no thought to the fate of Sarah.

The incident is so at variance with everything good about Abraham, that one can only regard it as the sort of lapse that sometimes occurs today in the lives of men of good character.

It seems strange to think of a man of faith and courage, the utterer of a high and beautiful prayer, resorting to a cheap lie.

The case of Jacob, Abraham's son, is very different. Jacob, in his early life, at least, does not appear as a good man, lapsing into a temporary act of weakness or evil.

To the contrary, there is in him something fundamentally bad. He is a schemer and trickster, mean and selfish.

But a glimmering of something better appears in his romantic love for Rachel, and he does ultimately give every indication of having become a better man.

However, no glossing over of the evil in the early life of Jacob can make him better than he was. The evil in him was deep. Yet that early evil makes the transformation in his character all the more significant.

Two things stand out boldly as we consider these two men. One, as we think of Abraham, is that no man should be judged by any one incident, or phase, of his life.

Even good men may lapse and fail at times and should be judged only by their whole record of character, purpose and achievement.

The other, as we think of Jacob, is that no man's character, however evil, is necessarily fixed. Even a bad man may become a good man.

Improve Your Stickhandling

IF YOU are to score goals or set up scoring plays for a team mate you must be skilful at getting the puck out of your own end, down the ice and into the scoring zone. Here are a few stickhandling tips which will help your puck-carrying ability. The hands and wrists should be kept as loose and easy on the stick as possible with only as much strength used as needed to keep hold of the stick. This will give you a soft "touch" and greater control.

Always keep in mind that relaxed muscles can move more quickly and will respond to your mental commands with more efficiency. The hands should be as high on the stick as possible with the hands as close as the player finds he can keep them. The closer the hands, the greater is the control of the stick.

The puck should be cradled in a spot halfway between the heel and toe of the blade. The blade of the stick must always be kept at right angles to the direction in which the puck is being moved. In very wide patterns the toe of the blade should be turned in a little towards the puck so that it will not slide off the end of the stick. Keeping the hands out to the sides, especially the one on the side to which the puck is being moved, and avoiding any turning of the hands on the stick shaft will keep the blade in proper position.

Rebound Strategy

In Basketball

After you receive the ball on a rebound and your shooting position is not good, look toward the free throw circle to see if a team mate is free. If he is get the ball to him quickly. Too many players try to shoot after taking a rebound, regardless of what their position may be. Don't you make this mistake.

Get Off It Tired!

If you become tired or slowed down by a hard body check, collision or from the accumulated effects of fatigue you should not try to hide the situation just to stay on the playing area. Your obligation is to the team and if you are tired or slowed down you should get off because when in such a condition you represent a weakness in the team.

Some athletes feel that such a statement indicates a weakness of character and puts them in the "wussy" class. Unless there is a definite reason that forces you to keep going under such circumstances you should get off the playing surface, keeping in mind that courage is only useful when it is used intelligently.

Building Bylaw Will Regulate Construction

Councillor Walter Dibblee reported on the progress of the proposed building bylaw for the town of Coleman, explaining to council the various changes that have been made and the reason for doing so. This report received a great deal of attention from the council in their first meeting since the election.

Councillor Dibblee explained the requirements for the fire zone area with special thought given to exits, walls and roofs. Following this the matter that has plagued council, the building of a garage and using it for a residence, was again discussed. Apparently under the existing bylaw, a person may apply for a building permit to erect a garage and after it has been built, turn the building into a residence. Under the new bylaw a certificate of occupancy must be issued by the inspector before a person may move into a dwelling. Under this regulation if the permit calls for a garage, the building must be used for a garage and not a dwelling. The present bylaw is ineffective as well in that although a garage may be turned into a dwelling it cannot be assessed as such.

Monday night appeared to be a night for clearing up old business, when Deputy Mayor Ramsay reported on the plans for the parking lot adjacent to the Roxy Theatre. Mr. Ramsay outlined how the project had been planned late last fall and shelved during the bad weather of winter. He reported that town foreman Joe Mahonuk had prepared a plan allowing for 30 cars and two buses in the area. All councillors felt that the project was a good one and requested that lighting be provided and that the lot be governed by bylaw.

Correspondence disclosed a letter from the Film Council asking permission to show films on Sunday. This was referred to the Police Department. A second letter was from the Teachers Association in regards protesting the proposed six weeks course for teachers. Council went on record of opposing the plan.

The local union U.M.W.A. wrote informing council of the Mass Meeting to be held in Blairmore and asking the council to attend. Council endorsed such an action by the Union.

Scheme To Aid West

OTTAWA (CP)—Changes in government policy on coal subsidies—subsidies that help pay the cost of getting Maritimes and western coal to market—likely will be announced.

The cabinet, it was learned, approved of some changes Wednesday in a continuing study of the coal-marketing problem, and these probably will be disclosed to a Maritimes delegation conferring with ministers Friday on the ills of the eastern coal industry.

Further shuffling of the $6,000,000 - a - year subvention payments may be in prospect, informants said, but this will depend on consideration given to representations made by the Maritimes group.

Plan Ordered
Officials also said the government has ordered a new assistance plan on western coal which it hopes will boost Alberta shipments into Ontario by more than 100,000 tons a year.

This is an increase of 65 cents a ton on the subvention paid for western coal going into northwestern Ontario for steam-making purposes. It holds the subvention ceiling on this fuel to $3.50 a ton.

Alberta in 1952 sold 17,000 tons in the market area covered by this freight assistance. United States coal took the remainder of the 150,000-ton business because of lower prices.

Covers Half Spread
The 65 cents a ton represents half the difference between the Alberta and U.S. prices. Federal officials said Thursday management of western mines—hit by declining markets—have agreed to absorb the other half in the hope of picking off the Ontario market. On this basis, they said, Alberta should be able to take the business.

The subventions are paid from the federal treasury mainly to help Canadian coal to sales areas against competition from U.S. fuel.

In the 1952-53 fiscal year, $4,770,000 went towards moving 1,625,000 tons of Nova Scotia coal; $1,018,000 to 597,000 tons from Alberta, and the remainder of the $6,000,000 towards smaller movements from New Brunswick, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.
